

From: Stephen Waller <stevewaller@rcn.com>
Sent: Sunday, January 27, 2013 5:17 PM
To: Ours, Stephen (DDOE)
Subject: comments on plans for Congress' coal-burning plant on Capitol Hill

Please do not permit any future possible use of coal by the Congress' plant in our fair city. They have had decades to put solar panels on their huge flat roofs. They have had centuries to caulk and double-pane and insulate their buildings. They have had plenty of time to phase out fossil fuel use, including dirty coal, which passes the unpaid costs on to the families of asthmatic and pulmonary disease patients, and to all DC taxpayers in terms of higher health care costs. It is time for those jokers to act like adults. To pay the full, lifetime costs of their actions. No more excuses, and no more permits for changes to technology that is already obsolete. They can make zero-emission changes (like solar) or negative-emission changes (like energy efficiency of their buildings), but no more increased-emission changes. Thanks.

Stephen Waller
4815 V St, NW
proud residential solar owner